World War III:
China's New Axis of Evil

On September 6, 2012, Russia and China quietly signed a Declaration of War on the American way of life.

It will banish the dollar into the dustbin of failed currencies ... crush the retirement accounts of millions of Americans ... and change the financial destiny of every U.S. citizen.

Here are 5 steps you must take IMMEDIATELY to secure your wealth ... and turn this calamity into potential windfall profits of 112%, 290%, even 368% within the next 12 months ...

Dear Fellow Investor,

Hi. My name is Brad Hoppman.

Today I want to tell you about a recent event that is about to PERMANENTLY shake the foundations of the global economy ... an all-out Declaration of War on the United States that was officially put into place on September 6th, 2012.

But you won't hear even a whisper about it in the mainstream media. It's an event that can literally spark the next World War, but unlike previous wars this one will not be fought with bombs and guns ... but it could trigger the most cataclysmic destruction of personal wealth in our lifetime.

As we speak, China is mobilizing resources and gathering allies around the globe for its imminent "attack."

They have one sole purpose in mind ... to crush the economic, political and military strength of the United States. around the globe by targeting America's Achilles heel.

1
And I'm absolutely positive that if they succeed, it will change everything you think you know about living, investing and retiring in America.

Now I understand if you're a little skeptical. But I'm not asking you to believe me just yet. I'm simply asking you to listen to my evidence before you make up your mind.

As you'll see in a minute, this chain of events was set in motion a long time ago and it's a story so controversial our media refuses to talk about it.

But this is exactly the type of research that my team and I at Weiss specialize in ... and it's the type of analysis that recently led Worth magazine to declare "Weiss' record is so good compared to its competitors ... consumers need look no further."

You see, we've earned the reputation of being the first company to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing BUT the truth on most of the major financial crises over the last 40 years.

For example ...

Back in 1991, we were one of the first groups to uncover the Savings and Loans scandal that cost taxpayers $153 billion. At the time, top bank officials sent us angry letters demanding we keep quiet, but we ignored them and ultimately our analysis proved to be 100% correct.

In the year 2000, we called the bursting of the tech stock bubble that cost U.S. investors an estimated $6.5 trillion in losses ...

More recently, we called the real estate bust and subsequent market meltdown in 2008. Plus, we specifically named nearly every major company that collapsed during the crises, including the big banks like Lehman Brothers, Bear Stearns and Citigroup.

In fact, I made 318% returns and higher buying Lehman and Goldman Sachs puts during the crisis. But my latest prediction is even more shocking than anything we've ever published before.

It has the potential to wreak havoc throughout our economy ... and it could wipe-out any portfolio that's heavy in conventional investments like stocks, bonds and treasuries.

We could see the markets crash another 50-90% ... traditional safe-haven investments like CDs and bonds turn into financial death traps ... and the price of water, food and gas will skyrocket.

But every crisis brings an opportunity ... and if I'm even HALF right about this, you could be pocketing outrageous profits of 112%, 290%, even 368% - and probably much more — in just a few months.
In short, I have uncovered compelling evidence that China is conspiring with a small group of rogue nations to knock America off its global pedestal by sending the dollar into the dustbin of history ...

And it will crush the retirement dreams of millions of American citizens.

That's why I created this presentation.

Because this War isn't about to start — it has already begun. Because on September 6, 2012 China initiated the first covert action to ignite this global war ... but you didn't hear a whisper about it in the 'pop' media.

And I want you to have time to protect you and your family from the coming carnage.

In this presentation I'll show you exactly how China plans to rule the world.

I'll show you how you can actively protect yourself and your family from the devastation.

And I'll also show you 5 simple steps to take TODAY ... to not only protect your portfolio, but also to double your money in 2013 and beyond.

Let's get right to what's going on ...

America's Last Great Export is about to Go Bust

Everybody knows the U.S. is heavily in debt to China.

And the U.S. trade deficit with China keeps growing, up to $558 billion in 2011, and The Daily Caller reports it's now the "largest nation-on-nation trade deficit in the history of the world."

But what most Americans don't know is — because of this huge trade deficit — each year the Chinese Central Bank collects billions of excess dollar reserves they have no idea what to do with.

For years China simply piled these dollars into U.S. treasuries.

Now, Washington loves this arrangement because it helps them run trillion-dollar deficits ...

But the Chinese aren't stupid.

With Washington cranking up the printing presses and the record low interest rates, China understands staying in Treasuries for the long term is a losing proposition.

After all, the results speak for themselves ...
According to Beijing officials, China lost $271 billion between 2003 and 2010 by holding U.S. Treasuries.

And in June of 2011, China’s National Development and Reform Commission announced it could lose another $578 billion if it continues to hold these huge U.S. debts.

So the Chinese government is now taking drastic measures to protect their wealth.

Two high officials — Zhou Xiaochuan, the head of the Chinese central bank and Xia Bin, a member of the monetary policy committee of the central bank — recently made it clear that they are ready to take action.

But China isn't simply planning to pull all their money out of Treasuries.

China isn't in this game for the short-run, and they're willing to sacrifice some short-term losses for long-term gains.

Which is why it was no surprise when an overlooked article in the International Business Times revealed a shocking announcement ... one that the mainstream media has refused to acknowledge ...

It stated that in a secret alliance with Russia, China launched the ultimate attack on U.S supremacy.

By attacking the United States’ last great export machine ... and its ultimate source of global domination for the last 40 years ... the petrodollar.

I firmly believe this is the shot across the bow for an economic war between the U.S. and China ... one that will bring about the end of the 30-year bull market in U.S. bonds.

As I'll show you in a moment, America has gone to great lengths to prevent this very crisis from occurring.

It's the reason we took down Saddam Hussein, Muammar Gaddafi and why we're now imposing sanctions on Iran.

But with our weakened military and our bloated national debt, China has the perfect opportunity to take us down ...

And unfortunately for us, their $3.5 trillion in U.S. foreign currency helped them launch their first wave of assaults on September 6, 2012.

So, while I hope for our sake they don't succeed, there's still time to prepare for the coming crisis.
Because I can assure you, right now China holds the economic future of America squarely in its hands.

And while you may be thinking that these currency wars won't affect you or your family, mark my words: the fall of the petrodollar will devastate everyone who lives, works and invests in America.

Let me show you what I mean ...

The Biggest Financial Con in History

The year was 1944 ... and all the 44 Allied nations gathered in Bretton Woods, New Hampshire.

Their mission was to create a set of agreements to manage international trade after the war.

Their brainchild, The Bretton Woods agreement, established the dollar as the world's reserve currency.

This international game-changer gave the United States a distinct economic advantage, but with one caveat ... every dollar the Fed printed would be redeemable for gold at a standard rate of $35/oz.

This was put in place to ensure the Fed didn't print dollars with reckless abandon.

But of course, the Fed printed more dollars than it had in gold to exchange, and with massive expenditures on the Vietnam War, the rest of the world became suspicious of America's ability to pay.

So nations began to demand the gold they were promised.

Then in 1971, President Nixon recognized he would not be able to meet the obligations and closed the gold window.

It was the first American default and it set off a rapid decline in the value of the dollar.

Oil prices soared.

Inflation soared to 15% and higher.

At the same time, GDP fell 3.2% and unemployment hit 9%.

P/E ratios crashed down from 16 to 8 and stocks had the worst 15 year period in history ... even worse than the Great Depression.
The government imposed wage and price controls which caused gas shortages around the country.

But in 1973, then-Secretary of State Henry Kissinger hatched a brilliant plan.

America had great military might and Saudi Arabia needed protection for its vast oil empire.

So, in a stroke of genius, Kissinger exchanged America's military might for Saudi Arabia's promise to sell oil exclusively in U.S. dollars.

Meaning, any country that wanted to purchase oil from OPEC was forced to use U.S. dollars.

So anytime another country wanted to buy oil from the Middle East, they had to first convert their currency into U.S. dollars.

And since oil is required in modern economies — and the Saudis are a main player in the oil trade — this put the U.S. in a unique situation.

Countries around the world would have to export goods and services to get the dollars they’d need to buy oil.

America on the other hand could simply "print" the dollars it needed to buy oil.

Which means the U.S. could run massive trade deficits because we exported the most valuable commodity in the world ... the U.S. dollar.

Up until the early 1970s America was the world's largest creditor.

But by the early 1980s we had begun to run our first trade deficits.

And since the 1990s our trade deficits have grown to trillions of dollars.
In order to get the dollars they needed to buy oil, countries flooded the U.S. market with cheap cars, cheap T.V.s, cheap clothes ... and we simply flooded the world with cheap currency in return.

But here's the cherry on top ...

The OPEC countries were required to invest their profits in US treasuries, feeding the demand for government debt ... allowing the government to borrow with reckless abandon ... and creating the greatest bond bull market the world has ever seen.

But it wasn't just the government that borrowed.

Consumers borrowed $14 trillion, add in $11 trillion in corporate debt, $17 trillion in financial debt and up to $90 trillion in unfunded liabilities like Social Security and Medicare — it all adds up to $140 trillion in total debt ... that's around 10 times greater than our whole domestic production.
It's truly staggering.

And the whole house of cards is maintained by this simple agreement made in 1973.

Do you see why it's so important the U.S. maintains the petrodollar?

Do you see why we're willing to go to war with anyone who challenges the petrodollar?

And do you see why this is the biggest opportunity that China has to end the golden age of America and usher in an age of Chinese dominance?

2008 gave us a prime example of what happens when the national credit card is shredded.

From the late 1990s until early 2007, housing prices grew three times faster than income as the Fed pushed down rates to 1% and banks gave mortgages to anyone with a pulse.
But the fact is, this rapid rise in house prices was unsustainable.

And eventually the market ran out of credit-worthy buyers.

And at this point the housing bubble simply popped.

And here's the even scarier part — even though growth only decreased 2% over the next few months, the entire economy almost collapsed.

The Government spent trillions on bailouts and stimulus to get the economy moving again because they understood an important truth ...

The same dynamic is happening right now, but on a much, much larger scale, in the bond markets.

Simply put, China is plotting to take away our biggest source for our seemingly inexhaustible demand for Treasuries ...

And right now China has us right where they want us.

Because while Americans are stuck in the past ... burdened by the promises and entitlements made years ago ...

China is preparing for the future.

And their goal is an all out assault on American supremacy and the petrodollar.
Now remember, China doesn't want to broadcast its intentions to agitate the United States., which is why you won't find widespread media reaction to this landmark media event.

But if you take a close look at the actions of the Chinese government, the evidence is overwhelming ...

China's Quest for Global Dominance

You see, China implemented a very simple plan to ensure global domination.

First, they're taking steps to monopolize the gold supply around the world.

Second, they're looking to build global alliances to help with their plan.

And finally, they're working to eliminate the dollar from the international oil trade.

First, let's take a quick look at how China has been hoarding gold supplies around the globe ...

China is smart. They know that they will soon have the economic power to take over the role as the world's reserve currency, but ...

They also know the Chinese currency — the Yuan — will never beat the U.S. dollar if it's nothing more than another "fiat" currency ... that is, a currency backed with nothing but empty promises.

So instead, the last few years China has been secretly stockpiling gold with the intent of creating something that's been missing from the global economy for 30 years ... a gold-backed reserve currency.

According to a recent Forbes article, "China is preparing for a world beyond the inconvertible paper dollar, a world in which the Renminbi, buttressed by gold, becomes the dominant reserve currency."

Now you may think I'm exaggerating ... but high level government officials are clearly worried about this possibility.

Because we know for a fact, that China has been purchasing massive amounts of gold for the past few years.

If you didn't already know, China is the world's largest gold producer, producing more than 350 tons of gold a year — almost 20% more than the world's second largest producer.

And yet, according to major bullion dealers, China isn't exporting a single ounce of gold.

Instead they've been importing huge amounts of gold.
In fact, in 2012 China imported roughly 500 tons of gold ... that's more than the entire holdings of the European Central Bank.

Even more importantly, this year will mark the first time in history that China has imported twice as much gold as it has purchased in U.S. treasuries.

But this still isn't enough to satisfy the growing demand because it's not just the central bank that's hoarding gold anymore.

And here's the thing ...

China is importing so much gold that they can't purchase any more on the open market for fear of bidding up the prices.

But that hasn't stopped them for a second.

They've even found a new way to add to their reserves ... buying gold mines across the globe.

Let me give you some examples:

- In August of 2010, China Gold International put in a $742 million bid to buy Skyland mining ...
- In November of 2011, Zijin Mining Group put in a $227 million bid to buy Gold Eagle mining ...
- In August 2011, Stone Resources put in a bid to take control of Crescent Gold, an Australian gold miner.
- And in April 2012, Sovereign Gold partnered with Jiangsu Geology & Engineering to buy two gold mines in Australia.

This is just a sampling of the moves I've uncovered that Chinese national gold miners have engaged in.

In total, I've uncovered over $5.8 billion worth of takeover bids in just a few years.

But here's the thing. We don't even know the true extent of China's rush to acquire gold.

Because China hasn't revealed the amount of its gold reserves since 2009.
But in 2009 China Youth Daily quoted State Council advisor Ji Xiaonan as saying, "We suggested that China’s gold reserves should reach 6,000 tons in the next 3-5 years and perhaps 10,000 tons in 8-10 years."

That would make China’s central bank the largest gold holder in the world, ahead of the U.S.’s approximate 8,000 tons of gold reserves.

Putting them in perfect position to take over the role of an international economic leader that the U.S. gained through Bretton Woods.

And with our bloated entitlements, out-of-control spending, and gridlocked Congress ... there appears to be nothing we can do to stop them.

But this is just the first step in China’s quest for global domination.

Because China knows it can't do this alone. Just like the U.S. 60 years earlier, they need to build global support for their initiative.

And they've concocted a brilliant plan that benefits them three ways while moving them one step closer to their goal.

Here's the second thing they are doing ...

China’s Building Global Alliances

It's no secret that energy, commodities and other resources are keys to economic growth.

It's estimated that in the next 5 years, 1.5 billion consumers are going to join the ranks of the middle class ... all of them demanding TVs, cell phones, dishwashers and cars.

Not only that, countries like China will need to build the infrastructure to house, transport and deliver them the energy to sustain a Western way of life.

Which means that they will require huge amounts of energy and resources to meet these demands.

This fact has not been lost on the Chinese which is why they've been using their $3 trillion in dollar reserves to position themselves for the future.

China for instance has already started to invest heavily in securing oil supplies from Africa ... investing $6 billion to secure oil rights in Nigeria and $7 billion in oil and mining infrastructure in Guinea.

And they've also been making aggressive moves in Canada, America’s leading oil supplier.
China recently invested over $6 billion in securing rights to various Canadian tar sands projects.

And in Brazil, they loaned the state oil company Petrobras $10 billion in a deal that will more than triple the oil they export to China.

In Peru they paid $3 billion for the rights to mine a mother lode of copper underneath Mount Toromocho.

A state-owned company Chinalco paid $13 billion for rights to Australia's aluminum sector.

And recently Sinopec paid $7.2 billion for Addax Petroleum, which has sizeable assets in Iraq and Nigeria.

But China's doing more than just purchasing resources on the open market.

It's also supplying aid and investments in resource-rich countries.

This supplies China with three immediate benefits ...

First, they obtain the resources they need to sustain a rapidly growing economy ...

Second, they rid themselves of the huge war chest of rapidly devaluing dollars ...

And third, they gain powerful allies across the globe in their quest for world domination ...

China has been handing out billions through its China Export-Import Bank.

And President Jiang Zemin argues: "Regions like Africa, the Middle East, Central Asia, and South America with large developing countries [have] very big markets and abundant resources; we should take advantage of the opportunity to get in."

And China has been taking advantage of this opportunity in a big way.

For instance, in the last 7 years China has invested as much as $75 billion in Latin American countries ... more than the World Bank, Inter-American Development Bank and the United States Export-Import Bank combined.

And they've directed a lot of those resources to countries that the West has ignored, like Ecuador Venezuela and Argentina ... countries right in our back yard that were off limits during the cold war.

China pledged to lay down $12 billion in railway lines in Argentina, gave $1.6 billion for a hydroelectric dam in Ecuador, and $20 billion for infrastructure construction in Venezuela.
But it's not just Latin America ...

China recently agreed to grant Russia $6 billion loan for infrastructure in exchange for the Russian coal supplies over the next quarter century.

And they recently struck a deal to expand the capacity of the Greek port of Piraeus up to 250% in exchange for easier access to European shipping lanes.

They've recently pledged $20 billion in investment across Africa ... which will go to build roads, railways, schools, hospitals ... agriculture and manufacturing projects ... and small and medium-sized business development.

You see, it's clear that the Chinese are on a mission to not only secure resources around the globe but goodwill as well.

That's exactly what China has been doing for the past decade: Using their massive war chest of dollar reserves to buy allegiance across the globe.

Because they understand they'll need a strong global backing to secure the final step in their plan to take down America ...

If history has taught us anything, it's that no empire lasts forever ...

And right now, America’s reign of economic dominance is teetering on the brink because of this:

How China will Shakedown America in 2013

Right now the Chinese government is blazing a new trail in the international energy trade ... and a recent agreement with Russia and Iran may be the final dagger in the heart for the U.S. dollar.

Simply put, China is plotting to end the reign of the petrodollar ... and they are leading the assault with the help of the new axis of evil including Russia, Iran, Venezuela, Nigeria and others.

Maybe you think I'm exaggerating but take a look at a recent article in The Examiner:

"*Just a few days ago, China made the official announcement ... as of that day, Thursday, Sept. 6, [2012] any nation in the world that wishes from this point on, to buy, sell, or trade crude oil, can do so using the Chinese currency, not the American dollar."

And they've already begun making deals with big oil exporters to ensure this outcome.

For example:
• Major African oil producer Nigeria has agreed to swap a major portion of its dollar reserves for Yuan reserves. Standard Bank researcher Simon Freemantle says, "We, rather conservatively, anticipate that around 40 percent of [Chinese]-African trade would be settled in [Yuan] by 2015."

• China and Brazil have signed a currency swap worth $30 billion, in a deal which, according to the Wall Street Journal is said to encourage Chinese investment in Brazil’s oil sector.

• Iran has signed major deals to drop the dollar from oil deals with China, Russia and India.

• China signed a $5 billion deal to buy oil from the United Arab Emirates in Yuan.

• And Russia recently announced it will supply China with all the crude it needs or wants and they won’t transact using the U.S. dollar.

And China state-run oil company Sinopec recently completed an $8.5 billion deal in Saudi Arabia to help build out oil infrastructure.

The writing is on the wall ...

If Saudi Arabia walks away from the petrodollar America is doomed.

And why wouldn't they?

Commodity producing countries around the world suffer the same fate as any American investor.

If you stuff your dollars in the bank, your savings will get ravaged by inflation.

You could leave it in the stock market, and suffer violent booms and busts from the Fed's mismanagement of the economy.

Or you can park your money in government bonds and treasuries and pray for the best.

That's exactly what most investors have been doing.

More than $400 billion in hot money has abandoned the stock markets and moved into bonds.

And for the last 30 years most of these countries have been pouring their excess dollars into government bonds and Treasuries.

It's created the greatest 30 year run for government bonds in history.

It's allowed us to run up unprecedented Federal deficits ... [live way beyond our means ... and consume trillions more than we produce as a country.]

But we've also created an enormous bubble, 4-times the size of the internet bubble and the real estate bubble combined.
And when countries decide to say no mask to the petrodollar this mega-bull market will see its final day of reckoning.

And when that happens it will make the stock market collapse of 2008 look like a cake walk.

Countries like Greece and Spain have already shown us the devastation that can happen when the national credit card runs out ...

According to the New York Times Greece’s economy shrunk almost 12% between 2009 and 2011 and will plummet another 6% this year.

In the past few years, Greece has seen 25% unemployment, massive strikes and even violence erupt throughout the country.

People are now even worried about the resurgence of the neo-Nazi party there.

But America has run up bigger debts, has bigger deficits and an even bigger bond bubble than all of Europe combined.

And when our bubble bursts you could see American stocks, bonds and your savings go up in smoke.

Interest rates will soar on everything from home loans to credit cards ... sending real estate plummeting to new lows ... and throwing millions more Americans into bankruptcy and foreclosure.

The Federal government will be thrown into turmoil ... unable to pay its bills ... and the record 43 million Americans who rely on government assistance will take to the streets and riot.

Prices on everything from food to gasoline will soar ... sending millions of middle class workers into poverty ...

And if you don't position yourself properly in the coming years you could be among the millions devastated by this crisis.

Like I said, this is an economic war.

And China will do its damnedest to come out on top with the least collateral damage to their dollar reserves.

Which is why they've quietly been moving their dollars out of U.S. Treasuries and into gold and commodities.
They know that on the day the dollar falls investors will lose faith in fiat currencies.

Investors will no longer want to buy and hold assets like stocks, bonds and currencies, which are assets based on nothing but empty promises of CEOs, central bankers and government leaders.

Instead they will be turning to real assets like gold and silver — assets with intrinsic value — which are poised to skyrocket when these empty promises unravel.

And if you want to protect your family and your retirement I suggest you take some similar steps.

Because if I'm right about this, you stand to make a fortune ...

But even if I'm wrong, China will continue its relentless march toward resource domination ... and will still be loading up on gold ... which means you stand to make money if you take the few simple steps I recommend.

My point is, this could be the easiest, safest way to protect your money and your family from the inevitable decline of the U.S.'s global influence.

So what steps do you need to take TODAY to protect yourself from this situation?

Simply make the same moves that China is making right now to protect their assets.

Most people are well aware of the massive market crashes that have battered their stock portfolios in the last decade ...

But few people realize that the bond market has also suffered two huge crashes as well.

In the late 1990s the bond market plummeted 29% ... and then plummeted another 35% again in 2008.

That's a pretty big hit for a so called "safe" investment.

And in both cases interest rates only rose about 2%.

But I firmly believe with interest rates currently close to zero ... the end of the petrodollar could cause interest rates to soar up to 10% ... sending bonds — and your portfolio - plummeting 50% or more!

And that's why China and other central banks are dumping Treasuries and loading up on gold and silver.

But here's the thing ...
Dumping Treasuries and buying precious metals is just the first step ...

And a few savvy investors have uncovered a way to make much bigger profits in the coming bond collapse.

Which is why I've asked our leading resource expert, Sean Brodrick, to put together a brand new special report to show you this simple technique. It's called Survive and Prosper in the Coming Economic War.

It's written by Sean Brodrick, Weiss Research's natural resource analyst.

We hired Sean because he's an experienced analyst with tons of on-the-ground experience in the resource sector.

He's traveled from diamond fields north of the Arctic Circle, to an ancient city of silver and mummies in Mexico, to a gold project so far south in Argentina that penguins waddled up to check out what he was up to. And he's been all sorts of places in-between.

This allows Sean to act as your personal agent — sharing his candid impressions from far-flung gold mines ... remote energy pipelines ... and other rich resource opportunities around the world.

This is one of the biggest reasons Sean has been able to uncover so many blockbuster investment recommendations in some of his various trading services over the last few years, including:

- 81% on Energy Metals
- 123% on Jaguar Mining
- 56% on MarkWest Energy Partners
- 88% on Impact Silver
- 368% on Great Panther Resources
- 70% on Rye Patch Gold
- 107% on Kingsgate Consolidated
- 290% on Jinshan Gold Mines
- 101% on Energold Drilling
- And many, many more ...

Naturally, past performance is no guarantee of future success ... and these returns are before commissions or fees and the varying prices subscribers may have received.

But we believe these prior gains are only a fraction of what you could make from the end of the petrodollar.

Because Global Resource Hunter recognizes that ...

1. A big commodity bull market is in place ...
2. The petrodollar is in big trouble, as is our bond market.
3. The torch of leadership in the global economy may be passing from America to China and other emerging markets.
4. And that there are big profits to be made on all of these trends for those who dare to venture off the beaten path and think for themselves!

That's why, as a regular Global Resource Hunter reader you'll receive:

- The real story. It doesn't happen in big corporate boardrooms or on CNBC's soundstage! As you've seen here today, the story happens on the ground. It happens with the people and the companies, not with the "commodity experts" and the talking heads.
- Flash Alerts when Sean sees the chance to cash in on a fast-moving position. Sometimes we'll recommend shares of a company Sean's visiting, and do it right from the field — giving you the jump on other investors!

You'll also be able to attend ...

- Special Members-Only Quarterly Teleconferences with special guests, so you can share in the resource-hunting adventure with Sean and meet some of our closest contacts.

Plus, you'll have access to ...

- Sean's Global Resource Hunter Members-Only Mail Bag where you can submit your questions at any time to get direct answers! We can't give personalized investment advice, but can tell you anything about the recommendations and the investments that we like!
- EVERY issue of Uncommon Wisdom Daily, one of Weiss Research's most popular publications, where you'll gain precious insight into some of the best research from Editors like Sean, Rudy Martin and Tony Sagami.
• And most importantly, you’ll be among the exclusive group receiving our boots-on-the-ground profiles of sizzling stocks from the frozen north of Alaska to the southern tip of Chile.

With over 25 years of real-world experience and insider contacts all over the globe, I believe Sean will provide you with the best insights and opportunities in the world of global resource investing ... opportunities he exclusively shares with Global Resource Hunter subscribers.

Best of All, You Can Get All Sean’s Insights for LESS than What We Pay in Excess Baggage Fees!

Other analysts charge thousands of dollars a year for the kind of on-the-ground resource recommendations that we deliver in Global Resource Hunter.

But we still believe very strongly in sharing these discoveries with investors just like you ... instead of forcing you to listen to the talking heads and the ivory-tower commodity "experts" who have never even seen a pipeline or a mine in person.

Plus, we believe it's our duty to protect you and your family from the dangers of China’s march to economic dominance.

That's why I've set this letter's regular annual rate at just $198.

Add it all up, and the total value of these savings and the urgent reports is a whopping $544!

There's Only One Hitch: This Special Offer Is Only Good for a Limited Time.

Let's face it: It's just a matter of time before China makes its next move on the petrodollar.

Just as the 20th Century was the American century, the 21st Century will see the rise of China.

Many investors will be blindsided but you could be among the lucky few who not only protect themselves but prosper in the coming chaos.

That's why I invite you to join us as we continue to travel the globe in search of investments that can give you life changing profits. But it's up to you.

If you're happy with more mainstream investments ... if you trust that companies are generally honest in their reports ... and if you think analysts can do everything from behind their desks, then this is probably not right for you. But if you've read this far, I suspect you that's not the case.

So don't wait until it's too late. After all what do you have to lose?
